

April Reeves Freeman

April Reeves Freeman is a Shareholder in the Firm's Litigation Practice Group. She is a graduate of the University of South Alabama (B.A., 1998) and Cumberland School of Law (J.D., 2002). While in law school, she served as Senior Associate Editor of the American Journal of Trial Advocacy. Mrs. Freeman was also a member of the Cumberland Trial Advocacy Board and a Judge Abraham Caruthers Teaching Fellow. She is a member of the Mississippi Bar, the Alabama Bar, the Georgia Bar, and the American Bar Association's Sections on Antitrust Law, Tort Trial, and Insurance. Additionally, Mrs. Freeman has served as an associate of the Charles Clark American Inns of Court.

She focuses her practice in business tort litigation, financial institutions law, and commercial litigation and has handled complex antitrust including claims involving Sherman Act conspiracy, monopolization, attempted monopolization, group boycotts, Walker Process violations, and Clayton Section 7 acquisitions. Mrs. Freeman has handled all facets of litigation for various financial institutions including mortgage fraud, predatory lending, employee fraud, money laundering, insurance flipping and packing, secondary market disputes, collection disputes, financial institution bond coverage, and consumer disputes. These cases have involved claims under TILA, RESPA, HOEPA, FCRA and RICO. She has also successfully litigated multiple federal RICO (Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act) lawsuits.

April Reeves Freeman
Shareholder

Areas of Practice:

- Commercial Litigation
- Employment Litigation
- Business Tort Litigation
- Antitrust Litigation
- Construction Law